

Dear ministers,

I am a conference/meetings and incentive events planner based in Vancouver and have used the Law Courts Inn Restaurant for the large groups that visit Vancouver from time to time. It is always beneficial to find a venue close to the convention hotels to host a lunch or dinner event that is within walking distance.

The Law Courts Inn Restaurant provides a very good capacity for groups that are looking for a space that reflects some of the beautiful architecture amid a peaceful setting. This location means we can avoid driving our group further away and creating additional congestion on the already busy Vancouver streets. The service quality and food delivery has been complimented numerous times by my international clients (some of them are Fortune 500 companies).

It would be a shame to lose this beautiful space as a dining and event space option to our discerning clientele and I hope you would please discuss any new plans for this location with the current occupants and how they are positively impacting the local business community.

Thank you for your consideration to this request.

With my best wishes,

John Philip
